HTML | School of Information Studies
Syracuse University

HTML

Hyper Text Markup Language

System for formatting Web pages

Uses tags

School of Information Studies
Syracuse University

Sample HTML Document

```
<html>

<head>

   <title>Page title here</title>

</head>

<body>

   This is sample text...

   <!-- We use this syntax to write comments -->

   This is text within a paragraph.

   I really mean that

   <img src="smileyface.jpg" alt="Smiley face" >

</body>

</html>
```

School of Information Studies
Syracuse University

Simple Sample

Uses white space for structure

Many put numerous tags on one line

Main purpose of HTML
- Interpreted by browser
- Do not always use ending tags

School of Information Studies
Syracuse University

urllib

Request package to retrieve file from ftp server

Connect with web servers using http protocol

Use of request and response data types

School of Information Studies
Syracuse University